American Girl dolls are beloved by girls of all ages. These high-quality dolls are designed to be played with and cherished for years to come. However, with all the love and attention they receive, American Girl dolls can start to show signs of wear and tear.

That's where this care keeping guide comes in. We'll share all the tips and tricks you need to keep your American Girl doll looking her best. From cleaning her clothes to repairing her hair, we've got you covered.

Cleaning Your American Girl Doll

The first step to care keeping is cleaning your American Girl doll. This will help to remove dirt, dust, and other debris that can damage her clothes and body.

To clean your American Girl doll, you will need:

- A soft cloth
- Mild soap
- Water

Instructions:

1. Dampen the soft cloth with water. 2. Add a small amount of mild soap to the cloth. 3. Gently wipe the doll's body, face, and hair with the damp cloth. 4. Rinse the cloth with water and wring it out. 5. Wipe the doll again with the damp cloth to remove any soap residue. 6. Allow the doll to air dry completely.

Special care for eyes, hair, and clothes

Your American Girl doll's eyes, hair, and clothes require special care to keep them looking their best.

Eyes: Avoid getting water in your doll's eyes. If her eyes do get wet, use a soft cloth to gently pat them dry.

Hair: Brush your doll's hair regularly to remove tangles. Use a soft-bristled brush and be gentle. Avoid using heat styling tools on your doll's hair, as this can damage it.

Clothes: American Girl doll clothes are made from a variety of materials, including cotton, polyester, and nylon. Follow the care instructions on the label to ensure that you wash and dry the clothes properly.

Repairing Your American Girl Doll

Even with the best care, American Girl dolls can sometimes get damaged. If your doll gets a tear in her clothes, a scratch on her body, or a broken limb, don't despair. There are many ways to repair your doll and make her look good as new.

Here are some tips for repairing your American Girl doll:

- Tears in clothes: You can repair tears in your doll's clothes using a needle and thread. Use a matching thread color and sew the tear closed. You can also use a fabric glue to repair tears.
- Scratches on body: You can remove scratches from your doll's body using a soft cloth and a mild abrasive cleaner. Rub the cleaner gently over the scratch until it disappears.
- Broken limbs: You can repair broken limbs on your doll using a variety of methods, including glue, tape, and wire. Consult with a doll repair expert to find the best method for repairing your doll's limb.

Storing Your American Girl Doll

When you're not playing with your American Girl doll, it's important to store her properly to prevent damage. Here are some tips for storing your doll:

- Store your doll in a cool, dry place.
- Avoid storing your doll in direct sunlight.
- Store your doll in a box or bag to protect her from dust and dirt.
- If you're storing your doll for a long period of time, consider wrapping her in tissue paper to prevent her from getting scratched.

By following the care keeping tips in this guide, you can help your American Girl doll stay looking her best for years to come. With a little love and care, your doll will be a cherished companion for generations to come.
